What Can I do in College?

Medical schools require you to have at least a Bachelor's Degree. You can transfer from a NC community college to public NC university and still go to medical school.

Picking a major does not effect your acceptance into medical school as long as you have the general course requirements. Generally: 1 year of Biology + labs, 1 year of General Chemistry + labs,
1 year of Organic Chemistry + labs, 1 year of Physics + labs.

Suggested for MCAT prep: Psychology, Sociology, Anthropology, Biochemistry.

Other opportunities to distinguish
your application include: Shadowing, volunteering,
clinical experiences, research.

What about Medical School and Residency?

Medical schools require you to take the MCAT exam at least one year before entering medical school.

AMCAS is the application for MD (allopathic).
AACOMAS is the application for DO (osteopathic).

Applications open about one year before entering medical school. The application process includes:
primary application, secondary application, and in person interviews.

Medical school is typically four years, but there are some programs that are three years.

Residency is three years but specialties
may take longer such as sports medicine.
